He is now in a business, half owned by the Danish East Asiatic Trading Company, and the other half by a British friend. He is lively, positive, agreeable, and very Scottish.

Graydon Upton, Executive Vice President of the Inter-American Development Bank, who once worked with me in OSS, Mr. Del Solar, his European representative, and Bob Bean talked to me this afternoon about conversations they had held with British bankers regarding participation in the work of their institution. I went to a reception, given by the US Lines at the Carlton Tower Hotel, as a farewell for Tarleton Winchester. He has been their representative in London for 30 years or longer. I have known him since he was a boy in Baltimore.

E and I dined tonight with Tom Lumley and his wife, at 8 Russell Court. The others were the two attractive Lumley daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Butterwick (an elderly and delightful couple; he is a great expert on old silver, is associated with Sothebys, and has a fine collection of his own). There was also Mr. and Mrs. Herbert. He is at Christie's. She is excellent company, and is a daughter of Sir Brian Horrocks, Black Rod in the House of Lords. She had some good stories about the Medieval, or even earlier, ceremonies [redacted] in that House. Lumley showed me a small George I octagonal teaset he had just bought for what seemed the fantastic price of many thousand pounds. He said he would have no difficulty in disposing of it profitably, but only had to choose among several eager clients as to whom he would make happy.

There had been an immense crowd to say good-by to the Winchesters. They are retiring from here to their place on the Mediterranean Coast of Spain.

Dear Professor Mellen:

I refer to your letter of September 19, 1979 requesting the release of certain Department of State documents under the Freedom of Information Act (Title 5 USC Section 552).

A search of files under the Department's control has resulted in the retrieval of 556 pages which appear relevant to your request. After careful review, we have determined that 446 of these pages can be released. Sixty-five more can be released subject to excisions. Forty-five must be withheld from release.

All the denied and excised material (unless otherwise specified below) has been determined to be properly exempt from release under Paragraph (b)(1) of Section 552 as currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12065 and authorized by that Order to remain protected in the interest of national defense or foreign policy. All non-exempt material in the excised documents that is reasonably segregable from the exempt material is released herewith.
